The Emperor penguins were huddled together on the ice:

_____, _____, _____.

Did You Know?

Male emperor penguins must endure the coldest, darkest, and windiest conditions faced by any creature on Earth. They incubate their eggs through the brutal Antarctic winter, where temperatures can drop as low as -60°C . Huddling together for warmth, they must go without food for up to four months. These remarkable birds showcase unparalleled endurance and dedication to ensure the survival of their offspring.
